Introduction

Here is a going out and entertainment vocabulary game in which students ask a partner hypothetical questions about going out and guess which answers they would choose.

Procedure

Divide the students into pairs (Student A and B).

Give each student a corresponding worksheet.

Tell the students not to show their worksheet to their partner.

Working alone, students begin by completing questions with words from a box.

Exercise A - Answer key

Next, students underline the multiple-choice answer in each question they think their partner will choose.

Students then take turns reading each question along with its three multiple-choice options to their partner, who chooses the answer that is true for them.

If students guess correctly, they put a tick next to the question and score a point.

The game continues until all the questions have been asked and answered.

The student with the most points at the end of the game wins.
