Introduction

In this Wh questions game, students race to use question words to make questions that elicit specific answers.

Procedure

Divide the students into groups of three.

Give each group a set of question word cards and a set of answer cards.

Ask the students to shuffle the question word cards and deal them out evenly and to shuffle the answer cards and place them face-down in a pile on the table.

Students take it in turns to pick up an answer card and read the sentence on the card aloud, putting emphasis on the words in bold.

The student then places the card face-up on the table.

Next, all the students check their cards to see if they have a question word that can be used to create a question that elicits the answer.

The first student to create a suitable question, say it, and place their card down on top of the answer card wins.

The two cards are then removed from the game.

If the other players think that a question is incorrect or doesn't match the answer, the student takes the card back and the game continues.

The first student to get rid of all their question word cards wins the game.

Afterwards, check the questions with the class.
